U.S. Gov't Acts To End Strikes

COLD WEATHER TO CONTINUE OVER WEEKEND . . . AT LEAST

Kelowna today fought the second round in its seasonal battle against Old Man Winter, but appeared to be coming out second best.

Gray skies dumped half an inch of snow on the city without relieving the cold spell, and the weatherman predicted more bitter weather for the rest of the weekend.

First snow of the season descended on the city Nov. 6, but disappeared in short order.

Ike Seeking New Ways Of Settling Disputes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has taken a step toward calling a White House conference of American management and union leaders to discuss new ways of settling strikes as crippling as the steel walkout.

An AFL-CIO spokesman said Friday night that the president had asked George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, to discuss the matter with Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell.

Meany had proposed the conference in a letter to Eisenhower. Excerpts from the letter and the reply were released by the AFL-CIO.

"I'm asking Secretary Mitchell to confer with you as to your specific ideas on time, place and composition of the conference you suggest," Eisenhower wrote.

"He will also explore with representatives of the management and labor leaders the possibility of a new way of settling disputes."

"When I have before me the results of these explorations, I shall communicate with you further."

The White House had no immediate comment after the labor group released some contents of the letters.

Meany had written Eisenhower that "our country must avoid drifting by statute into rigid and arbitrary rules for collective bargaining."

"Such drifting can only lead to a statement by the foreign ministry that the pilots of both planes are alive. The statement protested against the 'constant violation' of Czech air space by military planes flying from West Germany."

Pilots Of Two Downed 'Planes Reported Alive

PRAGUE (Reuters) — Czechoslovakia today confirmed that two West German fighter-bombers, missing in mysterious circumstances for the last three weeks, had crashed in Czech territory.

A statement by the foreign ministry said the pilots of both planes are alive. The statement protested against the "constant violation" of Czech air space by military planes flying from West Germany.

Wage Boost Demanded By Professional Men

OTTAWA (CP)—The civil service professionals have called on the federal government for immediate salary increases to meet "an emergency situation."

In a letter to Finance Minister Fleming, released today, the 5,200-member Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada said civil service professionals' salaries — unchanged for two years — are no longer competitive with private industry even at the recruiting level.

In addition, with fixed ceilings on professional salaries remaining low, many government employees are leaving the service at higher levels in the private sector.

"The effect on quality of recruits and on the quality of professional service is becoming more drastic. Those who are remaining are doing so at a marked financial disadvantage."

"If it is allowed to continue and if professional career opportunities continue to lapse, it will have a disastrous effect on constructive activity in the public service and will result in long-term losses to the nation."

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Canada's hockey team for the 1960 Olympic Games at Squaw Valley, Calif., today announced a $17,000 national campaign to raise funds for the trip.

The amount is about the same as that raised in 1956 when the Dutchmen represented Canada at the Olympics in Cortina, Italy.

A committee of local businessmen has been set up to collect and distribute the funds.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will pay basic expenses for 18 players and three officials. These include travel, hotel accommodation and meals.

Extra funds are needed, however, to carry a second trainer, team physician and other assistants.

NOTHING TO DO BUT GRIN AND BEAR IT — Three-week-old Michael Landreville comes under the close scrutiny of his mother, Mrs. Douglas Landreville, 22, of Long Beach, Calif., and his dentist, Dr. S. Kelowna, British Columbia Saturday, Nov. 14, 1959 Page 3

ON THE STREET

By W. BLAVER-JONES

CALLING BRIDGE EXPERTS. . . . Mr. R. G. Lee, of 1611 Ethel St., telephoned the other day about an unusual bridge hand. He requested the address of B. J. BECKER, author of the syndicated bridge column carried in The Daily Courier, but I suggested that we had many competent bridge players in Kelowna who are just as capable in answering his question.

HERE'S THE WAY THE table stood: Mrs. Lee's partner was Jack Minnette; Mr. Lee was playing with Mrs. Minnette. Mrs. Lee was dealt six clubs (100 honors) and five diamonds, Ace to the nine (100 honors) and two losing spade tricks. Mrs. Minnette, was dealer and passed; Mr. Minnette and Mr. Lee also passed. Mrs. Lee opened with five clubs. The latter's partner raised her to six clubs and Mrs. Lee stopped at that because of her two losing spade tricks. They played it out and made a grand slam because Mr. Minnette had the Ace and King of spades.

QUESTION POSED BY MR. LEE: How could his wife bid up to a grand slam? Although not a bridge expert, we suggested that MRS. LEE'S partner should have come back with five spades, thus setting up the grand slam bid. How about it you bridge experts? LEE'S phone number is P02-3877.

INCIDENTALLY MR. AND MRS. LEE came to Kelowna last August from Quill Lake, Sask. His only complaint—"Too much rain." The retired prairie resident brought his rain gauge with him. When curious neighbors saw it in the yard, Mr. Lee was told to throw it away. "You'll never need it here." "Since then," he chuckled, "I've taken five-and-a-half inches of rain from it." Nevertheless the Ethel Street residents like Kelowna. He's satisfied the weather has been "unusual" all over Canada.

HAWAII WILL BE COMMON place to Roy L. Wignall, general manager of Barr and Anderson. ROY was recently notified by Canadian General Electric that he won an all-expense paid trip to the south seas by topping dealer sales throughout B.C. This is the second time in three years he's won a trip to Hawaii. However a total of 25 made the junkie first time. This year only ONE B.C. dealer was chosen. He'll be leaving around the end of January. Congratulations ROY! You might leave me your red woolies.

HIGHWAY DEPT. INCONSISTENCY . . . the provincial government recently completed laying a modern hard-surfaced highway in Glenmore municipality. For several miles you can drive on the nicely paved road, with the 40 mph speed limit sign clearly visible. Then just before you reach Schleppe's Slough, you run into the twisty, winding, dirt and gravel road. Yep! You guessed it. There's a large sign which says 50 mph!

WORKS SUPERINTENDENT Mac Trueman will soon be able to sit back and plan his winter works program. The new sewer line running down Ethel street from Sutherland Avenue south to the disposal plant, will soon be completed. Crews are currently connecting up a new line between Cadder and Burne Avenue on Pandosy Street. Additional sewerage pumps have been installed in the disposal plant and when the network is completed, the system will work more efficiently. Around 5,000 feet of gravity line was installed. Up to now the Water Street station has been pumping the sewerage to the disposal plant.

AND A SOUR GRAPE to the knuckle-head we saw in the process of removing one of the fire pots placed beside the exposed sewer ditch at the corner of Burne and Pandosy.

HERB CAPOZZI IS ABOUT to pack his bags in preparation for the Grey Cup in Toronto. The B.C. Lions general manager will be in the GOOD city several days before the classic attending top level football talks. He has several speaking engagements in MONTREAL in early December, including the Ad and Sales Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. HERB will be back in Kelowna for a few days around Christmas and then heads south on a scouting tour. He'll also take in the New Year's Day Rose Bowl Game at Pasadena, Calif.

SPEAKING OF FOOTBALL, brother JOE CAPOZZI is of the opinion the season should start a month earlier so that the Grey Cup final will be played under better weather conditions. Pressing his argument, JOE referred to the B.C. Lions-Eskimos fixture, and to the ESKIES-BOMBERS contest on Remembrance Day. Playing on a frozen field with the mercury hovering around ten above, CAPOZZI says it's impossible for the players to be in peak condition. Under these conditions, it's the breaks that count. We'll go along with JOE, but try and get the BIG FOUR to change their minds. Could someone be casting a jaundice eye on Vancouver fog which sweeps in at this time of the year? The Grey Cup is slated for the west coast in 1960.

WAIT FOR THE OFFICIAL announcement, but the Russians will definitely be playing their lone exhibition game in the Okanagan at the KELOWNA MEMORIAL ARENA. Do I see smoke signals from Vernon and Penticton?

KELOWNA VISITORS . . . Ex-mayor Don Mackay of Calgary, and Mrs. Mackay slipped in and out of Kelowna practically unnoticed this week. Understand the Mackays plan leaving Calgary, with DON trying to line up a public relations job. The former mayor was a tremendous hit when he acted as Regatta commodore a few years back.

AND FINALLY THIS ONE comes from our City Editor, BARRY JOHNSON. He was talking to Penticton Herald scribe BILL STAVDAL, the other day. The latter remarked his little girl had her first birthday party. She learned over to blow out the lone candle when her hair caught fire. "What did you do?" asked JOHNSON. "We blew her out and made a wish," quipped STAVDAL.

Canadian Aviation Engineer's Subject

Canadian aviation will be the subject of an address to the Board of Trade Monday by Setty Pendakur, department of transport resident engineer.

Mr. Pendakur will also discuss current work on the Kelowna Airport. He is in charge of the runway modernization project.

The board dinner meeting is set for the Royal Anne Hotel, 12:15 p.m.

Okanagan Librarian Raymer PTA Speaker

George Dew, children's librarian at the Okanagan Regional Library and Mrs. M. Lewis, Kelowna junior-high school librarian, will be guest speakers at Raymer PTA monthly meeting.

The meeting will be held in Raymer Ave. school activity room Nov. 18, 8 p.m.

Children's books and "Young Canada Book Week" will be discussed.

An invitation is extended to everyone interested.

Alumni Committee Formed On UBC-Kelowna Relations

A special committee has been set up in Kelowna as part of a plan to achieve closer bonds between the university and the community.

The action was taken at the annual meeting Friday night of Kelowna branch of the UBC Alumni Association. The committee will deal with all matters affecting both Kelowna and the university.

It will be headed by Harry Raikes, new local UBC Alumni president, others on the executive, and persons who are not UBC graduates, to give a broader basis of interest.

One of the things the committee will consider is the increasing interest in suggestions that financial help be given students from outside Vancouver, in view of the extra expense involved in their attending the university.

Besides naming Mr. Raikes president, succeeding Arthur Dawe, members elected R. C. Wannop vice-president and Mrs. Gordon D. Hartley, secretary.

Attending from Vancouver were Mark Collins, UBC Alumni president; Arthur Sager, executive director; and John Haar from the UBC extension department.

In thanking the community for its support of the UBC development fund, Mr. Collins outlined the building program for the campus both under way and proposed.

Enrolment this year totals 10,570 students, he said, and it is expected that next year there will be an increase of five or six per cent.

In addition this year 5,905 persons are attending night classes, and 837 are taking correspondence courses. Summer school sessions in 1959 attracted 4,800 persons to the campus.

Mr. Haar spoke on the various services offered to the public through the extension department.

The meeting expressed unanimous approval of the movement for a community college in Kelowna.

At 9:30 the class divides into two groups under their respective teachers, and the routine continues with talks on the daily temperature, the time, the date, the weather, the pupils' home address and telephone number, and father's occupation.

Language, reading, recognition and discussion of pictures, and encouragement conversation and common objects are named. One of the chief difficulties is speech retardation.

Simple science is studied, such as a nature study of growing plants. Conversational topics are seen and heard by the pupils on TV and radio are discussed. Social science takes the form of manners—how to greet people, table manners, health inspection and safety rules. Singing and group activities are part of the daily time-table.

In the afternoon hand-work occupies the students. They make rag dolls, hot-plate mitts, dolls made of scrap wool, dusting muffs, menu cards and scrapbook covers.

At first, Mrs. Middleton and Mrs. Trenwith found they had to feel their way with their young charges, but now after a few years' experience in this very specialized work, and two sessions at the summer courses at the University of B.C., a definite curriculum is established, and they have the help of advisement from Dr. Ann Dawe.

Future plans for Sunnyvale School include three classrooms, kitchen, nursery and activity room. Apart from the building itself, it is hoped to start pre-school training, and to provide a sheltered workshop for those older than 18, so they may learn to be self-sufficient and to a certain extent, self-supporting.

On Wednesdays films from the National Film Board are shown which coincide with education outside the classroom, such as a visit to the Kelowna Machine Shop, when the film shown was "The Forge." The building site of the Okanagan Lake Bridge was visited, and there were follow-up visits to the completed bridge to see the lift span in operation.

Regatta Swimmer Lion Halfback Marry Today

A well known rhythmic swimmer and an equally prominent football player will exchange vows at First United Church this afternoon at 4:30 p.m.

They are Joan McKinley, who has been director of the Aqua Rhythms show at the Regatta for the past four years, and Basil (Baz) Nagle, half back with the B.C. Lions.

Following the ceremony, they will be going to Las Vegas and California for a two-month honeymoon.

Miss McKinley was Lady-of-the-Lake in 1950, and for the past five years has been spending the winter months in Los Angeles.

Mr. Nagle was born in Nelson and attended Kitsilano and John Oliver high schools where he learned to play football. He has a real estate business in Calgary.

Last night Mr. Nagle was guest of honor at a stag party at the Aquatic.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sommerfeld, 816 Wardlaw, are stand-fast in their decision not to send their children to school "unfused to send his other children less there is better traffic supervision in school zones and playground areas."

Mrs. Sommerfeld said today her two children, Erwin, 14, and Gudrun, 8, did not go to school after a certain time, lose the family allowance and be subject to a fine of $10 a day per child for every day the child is not at school.

The Sommerfelds, who have lived in Kelowna for two years, emigrated to Canada eight years ago from Germany.

Meanwhile, it appeared unlikely an appeal would be launched in the Wong case.

"An appeal hasn't even been considered yet," E. C. Weddell, QC, crown prosecutor, told The Daily Courier. "There is no possibility of an appeal on a question of fact," he said, referring to the jury's verdict and feeling the jury's decision.

Green Escapes Deportation Peril

Deportation proceedings have in this country for another year, been lifted in the case of ship jumper Charles Edward Green. He said he understands he will be allowed to take out citizenship whose story was unearthed here recently by Daily Courier writer played during the year.

The deportation order was issued more than a month ago following a 13-month battle with immigration officials. His lawyer lodged an appeal and it was upheld.

The 40-year-old, cigar-chewing Englishman jumped ship in Montreal "on impulse" in 1955. He made his way to B.C. and is now employed in the logging industry in the Revelstoke area.

Mental Retardation Major Problem Facing Canadians

What is mental retardation? How common is it? What causes this unfortunate condition? Could this condition happen in our family? These are questions that the public ask. On the other hand, here are some of the questions that the parents ask. Why did this happen to us? Was it our fault? Is this condition hereditary? Is there anything we could have done to prevent it? Will other children we may have be affected the same way?

Mental retardation is one of the most challenging problems of childhood, and yet most of us know too little about it. This is chiefly due to the fact that the public in general does not get exposed to these unfortunate children. There is a social stigma attached to them. Fortunately, the question of mental retardation is now being brought into the open. A child who is mentally retarded is no longer kept behind closed windows and locked doors. Much can be done to help these children and their troubled parents.

Polio victims had a spokesman in President Roosevelt, and the March of Dimes began which supplied the funds for research. These children have no one from their ranks to champion their cause. Therefore the responsibility for them falls squarely on the shoulders of each of us. In this enlightened society in which we live, we are our brother's keeper. However, before these children are given the recognition and the help they deserve, much will be required in educating the general public to this problem.

What is mental retardation? It is sub-normal intelligence, due in most cases to a defective or damaged brain. The child has a reduced capacity for learning, and cannot be educated to the same extent as a normal person of the same age. The mental growth and development of these children proceeds at a much slower rate than the normal child. When they reach adult age, they have then only reached the mental age of a child.

How common is mental retardation? It is a much larger problem than is generally realized. Let's compare the frequency of this condition with some other well-known chronic crippling defects and see how it stacks up. Out of every thousand children born in Canada, two will be blind, three will be permanently crippled to some degree by polio, three and a half will develop cerebral palsy, seven will develop rheumatic heart disease, but thirty will be mentally retarded. Yes, this is ten times the problem that polio is. The worrisome thing about this condition is that it is no respecter of persons. It may occur in any family. It brings tragedy to the rich and to the poor alike.

What are the causes of mental retardation? There are probably over one hundred different causes for this condition. In many cases the cause is as yet not known. Here are a few of the reasons why children have defective or damaged brains. It was once thought that the brain defect in these children was due to heredity. This misconception no doubt has a lot to do with the reason for hiding these children from society.

We are already preventing the damage to some of these children because of our advanced medical knowledge. The RH babies you hear so much about are sometimes left with a damaged brain, but since these babies have been receiving replacement transfusions, this no longer occurs. A strange hereditary disease called phenyl keto-nuria causes a severe mental retardation due to a build-up of poisons in the body and the brain caused by the improper utilization of protein in the diet. There is now great hope that these children will retain a normal intelligence if they are fed a highly specialized diet with certain protein fractions missing. Many such children are now being successfully treated all over the world.

The commonest single type of retarded child is the Mongoloid. It accounts for nearly one-third of the cases.

Severe head injuries and skull fractures sometimes lead to mental retardation. Even in grownups, diseases of the brain, head injuries, poisonings, drownings, electrocutions, and so on, may lead to a damaged brain. The chronic alcoholic actually damages his brain. In old age, as our blood vessels become narrow from Arterio Sclerosis, some of us will develop some form of brain deterioration. No age group is exempt from the scourge of mental retardation.

Retarded Children's Week is being observed Nov. 15-26. The special week is being marked in Canada to draw public attention to the problems of children handicapped by mental retardation. We hope you will stop for a few minutes and think of some of the less fortunate.

Cleaning Up TV Quiz Shows

While there must be some sympathy for Charles Van Doren who has been revealed as a celebrated fraud in the TV quiz show racket, whatever consideration is felt should in no way be directed towards condoning the educator's deceit.

His frank and fulsome confession before an investigating body of the U.S. Senate gained for him a measure of respect. It should be borne in mind however, that the statement was an admission that he lied to a New York grand jury and to newspapermen, and in addition, had deceived his family, his lawyer and friends.

The most pathetic part of the explanation was that he had almost grown to believe that his participation in the deception in which he had been supplied with the answers to quiz show questions, would be beneficial to teachers, education and the intellectual life.

That a man of intellectual stature should be conned into this line of thinking is not only shattering but represents a horrible disservice to his profession.

No one will discount the human element in the sorry proceedings. The temptation that an easy income of $129,000 over a period of 14 weeks represented must have been very great indeed. But when a man of Van Doren's stature capitulated to the lure the offence grew in enormity. He was idolized by the public, notably students and teachers, and let them down shamefully.

Now a question remains as to whether the young professor is to be cited for perjury or contempt because of his lies before the New York grand jury. Here justice should be tempered with mercy. The Van Doren career already is at rock bottom. What has transpired through his abject plunge from high estate is punishment enough.

Some amazing comments were made by adults on CBC's "Close Up" program Thursday night. A number of grown-ups interviewed admitted they would cheat for a large sum of money. But it was left to the little children to restore our faith. Practically every one contended it was deceitful.

A healthy outcome of the investigation will be the clean-up and policy of certain quiz shows. But many Canadians may ask the CBC "What about wrestling?"

Soldiers In Germany Have Financial Problems Eased

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOEST, Germany (CP) — Canadian soldiers in Germany are having their financial headaches eased more easily now.

They used to draw their dollar earnings in sterling, changing it into German marks for spending off base. With constant changes in valuation, it was a mathematician's nightmare.

From now on, everything will be done with marks—salaries, rents, bar bills and banking. Scrip, based on sterling, is being issued for the bonfires.

The decision to scrap this form of money was taken by the British Army of the Rhine, of which the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade forms a part. The Canadians welcomed it with open arms.

Maj. James Cox of London, Ont., the brigade's field cashier, says: "We very much welcome the changeover. It will simplify our entire operations."

USED SINCE 1945

Maj. Cox, whose staff looks after the estimated $2,500,000 circulating through the Canadian bases in Germany, still deals with Canadian and American dollars, German marks and Belgian and French francs. "But at least they are all decimal systems," he says.

With sterling gone, the brigade can use regular army cash books for the first time since the troops came to Germany in 1945.

The old sterling system—British armed forces services vouchers—had been used since the war 6 months. $1.75 for 4 marks, $3.50 for 8 marks, $5.25 for 12 marks, $6.75 for 16 marks, $8.25 for 20 marks, $9.75 for 24 marks, $11.25 for 28 marks, $12.75 for 32 marks, $14.25 for 36 marks, $15.75 for 40 marks, $17.25 for 44 marks, $18.75 for 48 marks, $20.25 for 52 marks, $21.75 for 56 marks, $23.25 for 60 marks, $24.75 for 64 marks, $26.25 for 68 marks, $27.75 for 72 marks, $29.25 for 76 marks, $30.75 for 80 marks, $32.25 for 84 marks, $33.75 for 88 marks, $35.25 for 92 marks, $36.75 for 96 marks, $38.25 for 100 marks.

Labor Party In Britain Trying To Mend Fences

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD
Special to The Daily Courier

LONDON — Two big moves, both intended to mend the fences of the Socialist movement in Britain, are under way. One, within the Labor party itself, is a direct result of the disastrous defeat at the general election of October 8. The other, under the wing of the Trades Union Congress, is the result of the wave of wildcat and unofficial strikes which have become so widespread and frequent in recent months.

Proposals have been put forward to the effect that the National Executive of the Labor Party should appoint a commission to examine the constitution of the party as a whole. This would not be in the nature of an election post-mortem. It would go back much further than that—to the time when the present constitution was drawn up 40 years ago. But its purpose will be to find out if the party and the union movement, which direction the Labor party organization should move if it is to recoup its fortunes.

Several names have been mentioned as possible chairmen for this committee, including that of Earl Attlee, former leader of the party and prime minister. Others who have been suggested to head it are Aneurin Bevan, now deputy leader of the parliamentary Labor party, and James Griffiths, who recently resigned from that post.

Some members of the party, including members of the "shadow" cabinet, felt that such an examination of the party's structure was overdue, even if the party had won the election. They consider that its defeat has made this kind of comprehensive examination of the constitution and organization of the party more imperative than ever.

Suggestions as to how the party can be re-invigorated have been pouring into Transport House since the election, and many of these will form a framework for consideration by the committee when it is established.

TUC INQUIRY

The other move which is directed at irresponsible trade unionists, comes from the General Council of the Trades Union Congress. The National Joint Advisory Council, which advises the government on Labor questions, is on the point of conducting a far-reaching inquiry into unofficial strikes and the activities of shop stewards. Such an inquiry was forecast at the annual conference of the TUC held in Blackpool in early September.

The most likely chairman for this inquiry is Sir Thomas Williams, who is chairman of the joint advisory council. It was he who stated at Blackpool that such an inquiry is being held. He is known as one of the most strict disciplinarians in the trade union movement, and is the leader of the General and Municipal Workers Union. His union recently suspended 112 of its members for taking part in an unofficial strike.

It is estimated that 47 other TUC leaders, representing workers in all the key industries of the country, will be on the committee.

DAMAGE TO MOVEMENT

This inquiry is inspired by the knowledge that the activities of shop stewards in fomenting unofficial and wildcat strikes in recent months have done incalculable harm to the trade union movement, and are even believed to have been a factor in the Labor defeat at the polls. The wiser heads in the movement are firmly of the belief that discipline to prevent such stoppages must come from within the movement, and not be imposed by government action. Indeed, the fear that the government might contemplate legislation to deal with out-law strikes is one of the factors which has motivated the TUC inquiry.

CAR EXPORTS

Having secured a strong foothold in the United States and Canadian markets, British automobile manufacturers are now looking to winning a larger share of the European market which will open up when the Organization for Trade in the Common Market comes into existence. Coincidentally with the opening of the great motor show at Earls Court, J. M. A. Smith, president of the British Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders, reviewed the export possibilities for the future.

In the first eight months of the year, he said, over 374,000 British automobiles were shipped abroad, more than a whole year's exports five years ago. It was expected that in the whole of 1959, about 250,000 British cars would be sold in the United States alone, an increase of 65 per cent over 1958. The European market, however, he claimed, presented probably the greatest challenge and opportunity.

MAKING AGREEMENTS

"We look to the successful conclusion of negotiations shortly," said Mr. Smith, "for free trade between this country, Scandinavia, Portugal, Switzerland and Austria. Possibly later, this may lead to a wider association in trade of these countries with the Common Market."

STEEL SHORTAGE

Meantime, production of British automobiles is being slowed down by a shortage of sheet steel. British mills are unable to keep up with the demands of the automobile industry for steel to meet their expanded production schedules. To make up the deficiency, emergency supplies are being brought in from France, Belgium, Italy, Germany, Austria and Australia. The United States steel strike is responsible in only a small way for the shortage. U.S. steel costs £15 a ton more than British steel, so the amount which is imported from the United States is quite small. Reason for the shortage is that new plants in Britain are not being brought into production as quickly as had been hoped.

OTTAWA REPORT

We Must Pay For Benefits

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Most Canadians are shown by surveys to be strongly opposed to continued spending by the federal government in excess of its income. They believe that it would lead to inflation and to higher taxes, neither of which they want.

Only a small number of Canadians dissent from this view, although most people agree that the present government has carried out our wishes in overspending temporarily, to minimize the hardships created by the depression inherited from the Liberal government.

But where do we go from here? No political leader has revealed any practical suggestion as to how the government can now substantially reduce its expenditure. Finance Minister Donald Fleming is doing his best in the absence of any major policy change, by trimming all departmental estimates like a prudent housewife.

We voted for higher old age pensions, for a fair deal for our backward areas, for the profitable development of our northern resources. Perhaps we did not pause to realize that we would ultimately have to pay for these benefits. Yet we would all now like to see this government cut its budget, to protect the buying power of our dollar and to save us from higher taxes.

WE LOVE IT ALL

What government expenditure would we like to see reduced? The welfare state is costing us a staggering $15 billion this year. Nobody would ask for the rate of family allowances, old age security, veterans benefits, the health service or university grants to be reduced. But it might be realistic to narrow the scope so that, for example, we would cease paying an old age pension of $55 a month to a millionaire. Apart from such capriciousness a national scandal. A mon sense restriction of welfare payments to cases of proved need, there is no cut possible here.

Irreducible financial commitments cost us $12 billion a year. The $680 million to service the national debt, which is an obligation of honor, and $162 million in fence colonies merits a very close scrutiny.

WE HAVE 119,000 men in uniform today. 11,500 of these are on active service, presumably ready for combat in Europe. The number of others who would be ready for combat in 24 hours, or even in 24 weeks, is probably so small that a showdown would precipitate a national scandal. A mon sense restriction of welfare payments to cases of proved need, there is no cut possible here.

FOOD IS OUR ONLY BUSINESS!
Selling food to our customers is our only source of making a living and paying the costs of operating our business. We are just "peanuts" compared to the large food empires which are attempting to dominate the food business in the Okanagan today. All we can do is our best and our large volume of business is proof to us that most food suppliers are not interested in the customer's needs. This message is from all the staff at KELOWNA'S ONLY Locally Owned Large Food Market!

VALUABLE PAINTING BOOK

Jill And Johnny Help Dispel Children's Fear Of Hospital

By EDITH TEAGUE
Feature writer on the staff of the "Evening News", London

At Westminster Children's Hospital, in Vincent Square, London, Jill and Johnny are the patients that every youngster knows.

At temperature-taking time, nurses are told: "You do it just like the nurse does to Jill." And doctors who show one of the small fry and X-ray plate is quite likely to hear a piping voice say: "Johnny had a special picture of himself just like this one."

Jill and Johnny exist only in a painting book—a painting book presented to every child who is going into this hospital as a patient. Primary fear of any child who has to have an operation or special treatment is of the unknown. "What will they do to me, Mummy?" is the question every parent has to try to answer beforehand.

This book, with ten pages of boldly-drawn pictures to color, tells the real-life Jills and Johnnies just what life in a children's ward is like, what the nurses and doctors will want them to do and what X-rays, examinations and injections are all about.

FROM SANTA CLAUS CLUB

Since February last, 3,000 of these books have been distributed, not only at Westminster, but to other children's hospitals in Britain and overseas where the scheme is to be copied.

It took the League of St. Nicholas, the hospital's 21-year-old band of voluntary workers, two years to raise the £250 needed to produce the first 10,000 copies.

Most of the members are mothers, many of them mothers of children who have been treated at Vincent Square.

Honor of presenting the books to the children was given to the Santa Claus Club, the League's junior organization with 900 members who pay two shillings and experience a year and help fill the hospital's Christmas sack.

Mrs. Seymour Robinson, a former chairman of the League, first saw the painting book idea used in a Toronto hospital. Another member had seen the success of it in America.

But these publications had all cost parents money, and the London mothers were determined that every one of the young patients sharing in their scheme should be able to get a book for nothing.

"All mothers want their children to be happy and co-operative on what is probably the first time completely away from home, family and friends," Mrs. Robinson told me. "Our group felt that here was a way to inspire confidence in the children and give relief to anxious parents' minds."

Artist Frank Winterborne spent many hours in the hospital in Westminster surrounded by the young patients. He watched them have their treatments, he saw them at work, at play and at meals. They ensured that he drew them accurately by pointing out that the boy pointed in his drawing should have a job on while having his "meal" with them.

NEW APPROACH TO OLD PROBLEM

"Jill and Johnny Go to Hospital" as the book is called, shows young Johnny going into hospital first, being examined and placed in a ward. Then comes Jill to be put to bed and have her temperature taken before the two youngsters join the others for dinner.

While Johnny examines his X-ray plate, Jill is taken away for an operation. Soon the pair start to have visitors, letters and parcels from home.

The routine of injections is explained in drawing, there are lessons in bed, and soon the pair are well enough to be collected by their parents and taken home.

The painting book is a new approach to an old problem, and a help not only to children and their parents but to hospital staffs as well.
